

PILL - Split the bill

and your bank account won't bother you to explore the world!

Were you ever on a trip with friends and wondered, if there is a better way to split your costs fairly? Tom always pays for gas and never wants anyone to pay for it, too? Lisa is often paying for dinner and forgets about it and she wonders, why she's always broke after the trip?

This app is not only for people who travel in groups; you can apply every scenario where money is included and someone decides to pay for certain people. For example, a group of friends likes to do things and stuff together like bowling, going to the cinema etc. It is often the case that somebody alone pays for the entry for bowling or the cinema. You can easily put that costs in our app and the app itself distributes them to the people who participated.

We have built in a payment algorithm which tells you, if someone has paid his debts or not. If so, you have to accept, that you received the money and everybody is happy.

We hope that our app helps you to enjoy your trip or activity without thinking about money.
